REPORTS READ AT THE ANNUAL MEETING JANUARY 26, 1967

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

GENTLEMEN:

An annual meeting combined with a dinner leaves its organizers in something of a dilemma. The one calls for workaday sobriety, the other for carefree conviviality. A way of attempting to bridge this gap is to invite a speaker. The Club's practice in this matter has followed a cyclical pattern. When we have a speaker, the program tends to be lively but long; when we do not, it tends to be short but dry. So we invite speakers until we get one whose efforts render our program both long and dry. Then general revulsion pushes us into the speakerless phase of the cycle, our present situation. This phase also, it may be remarked, is usually of short duration.

In my last report I offered a bright picture of the Club's condition, and I now assure you that we have continued to prosper during 1966. In part this prosperity reflects the healthy state of the rare book world as a whole; in part it testifies to the vigor with which members have applied themselves to promoting the Club's interests. The reports of Committee chairmen have presented a detailed picture of our varied activities which needs no amplification from me. I shall content myself instead with suggesting through an example or two how each sort of activity supports the others. So the revived Gazette permits us to place on record both detailed descriptions of salient exhibitions and speeches of particular importance, and the bold and imaginative buying program pursued by the Library Committee, culminating for the time being in our success at the Abbey sale, is helping to supply materials for such significant publications as Mr. Austin's list of Grolier bindings.

Only in the Treasurer's report is a note of caution sounded. This is as it should be, since he is our embodied financial conscience: and certainly the figures which he presents amply document the Council's decision to increase dues. You may remember Mr. Micawber's advice to young David Copperfield: "Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen nineteen six, result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds ought and six, result misery." At least since I have known it, the Club has declined to take so stringent a line in its fiscal affairs. Instead it has acted in the spirit of Voltaire's motto, "Le superflu, chose très nécessaire," and our financial position as a consequence is perhaps best described as one of lush indigence. Because we never deny ourselves anything that we really want, we have dark moments in which we contemplate such desperate expedients as paying for the oyster stew traditionally served at the end of meetings out of the Founders' Fund. But our deficits are not serious, and the voluntary contributions which some members so generously provide continue to enable us to make ends meet.

If I pass over the day-to-day operation of the Club without comment, it is only because the administration of our agreeable and efficient Librarian leaves me nothing to say. He is ably supported by his secretary, Miss Nelma Garcia, and the house staff. A welcome addition to the latter is Rupert Taylor, to whom we intend to entrust increasing responsibility in the future. It should also be noted that the Clubhouse has been designated a landmark by the City of New York, a circumstance that lends added impetus to our plans for celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of its opening next December sixth.

The Club did not go on its travels in 1966. Our projected trip to Russia was developing in a most promising way when a tragic episode of the "cold war," which struck close to home, forced its cancellation. Undaunted by this unhappy turn of events, we have scheduled for next May and June a three-week trip to Denmark, Sweden, Belgium, and Holland, all countries in which a more equable political temperature prevails, where our hosts are providing a full and interesting schedule for us. An aftermath of the Club's trip to Italy in 1962, it may be mentioned, has been the appeal to members by Mr. C. Waller Barrett, our President at that time, for gifts to assist in the restoration of books and manuscripts damaged during the Italian floods. Fifteen thousand dollars have been contributed.

During 1966 we lost by death our former President Donald F. Hyde, whose signal services have been recorded in a memorial sent to all members, and Corwin Black, for 13 years a member of the Council. Another deeply regretted loss was Jack Samuels, who left the Club a bequest of $5,000. It should also be recorded that the terms of two Council members have come to an end:

Mr. Frederick B. Adams, Jr., who returned to the Council at the request of President Hyde in 1963, and Mr. Valerian Lada-Mocarski, whose valued collaboration extended over 17 years.

In conclusion, I bring tidings that will touch every member. Our steward, James Lovett, came to the Club in 1923. He has outlasted 12 presidents and four librarians. Nor has there been any hiatus in his service. It is his proud boast, for example, that he has never failed in attendance at Council dinners; for 44 years menu number one (steak) has alternated with menu number two (chicken) under his careful supervision. To the members in general, and particularly to their wives, Lovett is better known than anyone else connected with the Grolier. He has been a fixture for so long, indeed, that it is difficult to conceive of the Club without him. But he too is mortal, and at 76 he longs for rest. On Friday, March 31, he will take his retirement, for which the Council has made appropriate arrangements. A ceremony in his honor is planned for that afternoon.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

Respectfully submitted,
GORDON N. RAY
President

REPORT OF THE TREASURER

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN:

You have received Financial Statements for the year ending June 30, 1966. Trends in the Club's financial affairs are revealed in the following tabulations:

REPORT OF THE TREASURER

Receipt of $7,889 on Development Fund pledges and withdrawal of $10,000 from invested reserves provided about $18,000 cash during the eighteen month period covered by these statements. This was applied (1) to restoring depleted working capital position, (2) to providing for publication costs, which in the last six months have been running ahead of sales of publications, and (3)—more ominously—to meet the continuing cash drain caused by deficits in current operations of the Club plus cash expenditures on property which do not show up as expenses.

In the Library accounts what my scientific friends call a generic differentiation between working funds and invested funds is to be observed. The invested funds "functioning as endowment" represent major gifts and bequests to our Library and should be preserved intact insofar as possible—to encourage others, if for no other reason.

REPORT OF THE TREASURER

In this case, the cash drain in current funds results primarily from the advances to the Library Committee to pay for some very important and worthwhile additions to our Library's specialized research material. Hopefully, cash advanced for this purpose will be recovered. However, cash is being depleted concurrently by deficits in day-to-day operating accounts of the Library. Cash which goes this route can hardly be expected back.

I make special note of the fact that $10,545 received as payments on pledges to the Development Fund during this period was restored to Endowment Funds, which is to say not channeled into current operating accounts. This money had been borrowed from Library Endowment Funds when Development costs ran ahead of payments on pledges, in hope and expectation that it would be repaid in full as pledges were paid off. We continue to carry as a bookkeeping asset of the investment account an amount of $13,803 "due from Development Fund." There are still some unpaid pledges which encourage us to believe that we shall eventually recover most if not all of this sum for the "Endowment Fund."

While defending the interests of our Endownment Funds in this way, our working capital position has deteriorated to the point where, ironically, we shall probably have to invade the Endowment account anyway—unless some unforeseen happening were to occur, and that right soon. At least it will be a conscious and deliberate invasion if and when the time comes, and not a matter of leaky bookkeeping.

The silver lining to this dark cloud is, of course, the fact that Grolier Library Funds "functioning as endowment" were augmented by two very generous bequests during the year: $50,000 from the estate of John Knight and $5,000 from the estate of Thomas W. Streeter. These most helpful and welcome windfalls blunted the force of the traditional Treasurer's laments. In fact these gifts enabled us to do prudently that which as true bibliophiles we should probably have done anyway—make a special appropriation of $5,000 out of Endowment Funds to purchase books for the Library, as mentioned before.

Continuing cash deficits in current accounts are, to say the least, disturbing to a Treasurer. There are good reasons for each of the expenditures which contribute to our deficits. However, when current income does not cover current expenses, the only source of funds to pay our bills is the invested reserve: in the General Fund, once wistfully referred to as the Permanent Fund, and in the Library as the Endowment.

The following tabulation of income and expenses illustrates our problems. The first two columns show actual experience for the two most recent twelve-month periods. The last two columns show possible results for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1967 and 1968 (the two funds are combined):

REPORT OF THE TREASURER

As you can see, we seem to be establishing a pattern of losing money—cash money before any provision for depreciation, renewals, etc. For the fiscal year which will end next June, my guess is that we will lose close to $11,000 unless some sort of windfall comes along. Other practitioners of the arts of bookkeeping, working with the same figures, project that the loss may be much smaller, but no one projects a surplus for the year. The year which will end June 1968 will have the benefit of the new higher level of membership dues for a full year, and most importantly—hopefully—the benefit of a higher and quite generous level of annual contributions. On this basis there is hope that we may break even.

As you can see from the figures, and as we have said many times, our budgets depend heavily on annual contributions. For example, the amount of deficit for the year just ended is less than the amount by which contributions decreased as compared with the fiscal year ended November 30, 1964. The further decline in contributions projected for the present fiscal year is explained probably by the many conflicting demands on members' generosity, notably for Florentine Relief. However, explanations do not pay salaries, or utility bills, or put on exhibitions, etc.

I would like to close this report on a constructive, even cheerful note if possible. I think I have found it: The Grolier Club, after all, has many close ties with the academic world: schools and colleges, for example. Many college Librarians are among its members, and the love of books and of the arts pertaining thereunto forms inherently a bond with the academic world. It was therefore very reassuring to hear no less an authority than Mr. John Gardiner, speaking on the radio the other night, describe the colleges' needs for more funds, and their vigorous outspoken presentations of their financial problems as not only no disgrace but rather "the badge of membership in the guild." We certainly wear that honorable but uncomfortable badge.

Respectfully submitted,
ALFRED H. HOWELL

Treasurer

REPORT OF THE AUDITING COMMITTEE

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN:

We have examined the report on the Grolier Club as submitted by the auditors, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., which covers the financial operation of the Club for the year ended June 30, 1966. The report fairly presents the financial position as of that date and we have accepted it as submitted with no recommendation of change.

C. WALLER BARRETT
STUART B. SCHIMMEL Chairman

REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN:

Last year's report furnished a statistical summary of the Club's investment portfolio—percentages in various categories of industry, ratios of stocks to Corporate and U. S. Treasury bonds.

The past year there have been no changes in the list which your Committee then declared was invested in "solid, safe companies whose record of growth is impressive." The only transactions have been the purchase of more Treasury bonds, and the shifting of short-term bonds into longer maturities without impairing the yields afforded.

The Committee thus carried out a negative program—summarized in what proved a happy prediction that "with the market at an historical high, we are cautious of new commitments."

Now, in an uncertain economic outlook, with the Club's very liquid position in its large Treasury holdings, we can take advantage of buying opportunities in the year ahead, subject, as always, to the restrictions imposed in the Harper Funds.

For the statistically-minded, the Treasurer's recent long report will furnish the exact status of the portfolio, which shows, we believe, a very satisfactory appreciation in security holdings.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWARD NAUMBURG, JR.

REPORT OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN:

The main concern of the House Committee during the past year has been with staff matters. However, these are of such importance to the Club and its members that your President and the Council have participated in their solution, and the President will give you, in his report, the outcome of their thoughtful deliberations.

As to household matters, your Committee has directed its main attention to this Exhibition Hall since it is the scene of so many pleasant occasions not only for members but guests and the public as well. It has been noted that the strong lights in the exhibition cases have been distracting for our speakers and for the audience. At the suggestion of Mr. Austin, diffusion elements were installed which cut down the glare and provide a more uniform light for the exhibits. Also, the installation of new lights in the front alcove eliminates the shadows which made it difficult to display exhibits properly on this prominent wall. Large gatherings in the Hall also tended to result in poor ventilation often noticed by participants. This has been corrected by installing a strong ventilating fan in the center window and sealing up the other two windows which leaked dust to the detriment of the books on the shelves.

The usual refurbishing has been carried out—chairs upholstered, furniture polished, and painting where needed is underway and will soon be completed.

All in all, the Clubhouse seems to be in excellent condition despite the fact that this year marks its 50th year of service to the Grolier Club.

As was said last year, the work of the House Committee is never-ending but it does welcome any suggestions from members for improvements which the Committee may have overlooked.

HOUSE COMMITTEE

Respectfully submitted,

Respectfully submitted,
THURSTON P. BLODGETT

Chairman

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS

Mr. President and Gentlemen:

This year we launched the Gazette with the able editorial assistance of Mr. Robert Graff and hope that members of this Club find it of interest and value. Your Committee would welcome any suggestions for the improvement of this publication. In line with the Treasurer's wishes the issue, which is now on press, will be shorter and less elaborate than previous issues.

We have the manuscript of Mr. Winterich's revision of The Grolier Club, An Informal History; unfortunately, a condensed version has just been printed in German. As a result of the verdict handed down in the Look magazine case, it seems prudent to defer legal action against the publisher of this uncensored version.

We also have in manuscript form the material for a check list of Grolier's Library, which is now being read by M. Jacques Guignard and Mr. Howard Nixon.

This year we published with great fanfare and copious spirits Robert Frost and The Lawrence High School Bulletin by Lawrance Thompson and Edward Connery Lathem. Before the celebration had gained momentum, it was announced that the binder had risen to the occasion and produced six hand-bound copies to meet the presentation requirements for the authors and government. We hope to have the balance of the book before the end of next month. In the meantime, your Committee can only thank you for your orders and the patience you have shown.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON ARRANGEMENTS

Mr. President and Gentlemen:

Since the last annual meeting, four major exhibitions have been on view. That of the Parnassian and Symbolist Poets was installed chiefly by my predecessor, Mr. H. Bradley Martin, and Mr. James Gilvarry. Our February speaker was M. Henri Peyre, who gave an encyclopedic account of the authors concerned. In March, William Jay Smith spoke on the contemporary and later influence of Jules Laforgue.

April saw the opening of the show of Dedication Copies, assembled by the indefatigable Douglas Ewing. Your Chairman assisted him by pointing out that it couldn't be done. A brilliant address was given—oh, no, no, no—I remember now, I gave that talk. This exhibition was kept on through June, chiefly so that the P.E.N.

COMMITTEE ON ARRANGEMENTS

conference would have something to look at when it visited the Clubhouse.

The opening of our fall season began with the exhibition of Exiles and Expatriates, staged by Messrs. Paul Gourary, James Gilvarry, and Douglas Ewing. They're all indefatigable, really—thank God. Mr. Alan Pryce-Jones spoke incisively and understandingly of expatriate literature in general, and, a month later, Mr. Robert Halsband talked with warmth and humor of a specific expatriate, Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, an old friend of his.

For the Christmas meeting, Mr. Karl Kup arranged the splendid show of the Book of Eastern Christendom. Comment is unnecessary—it is still in the cases around you. Miss Dorothy Miner gave a fascinating account of American collectors of illuminated manuscripts.

The committee is grateful for all assistance given it: by the Council, the Librarian, by Lovett and his staff. It is grateful to the speakers who come from outside to instruct or entertain us; I suppose it may be grateful, also, to the speakers who are members. It is even grateful, in a modified sort of way, to those people who spot errors in the labels after the exhibition has been opened.

It continues, as always, to ask for suggestions. What would you like to see in the cases?

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON SMALL EXHIBITIONS

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN:

Once again, the Committee has had a busy season, perhaps even more varied than usual. Lessing Rosenwald's "Illustrated Incunabula" was dazzling. You read the accurate, vivid description of the show in the June Gazette so I won't go into details about it except to say that it was one of the greatest assemblages of extreme rarities that it's ever been our privilege to show.

The final exhibition of last season was Dr. Webster's "Embassies to the Far East." This interesting, colorful display demonstated another side to Dr. Webster's notable collecting activities through the years. Again, this one was well described in the June Gazette.

In July as part of the American Library

Association Convention, we held in the large room a "Retrospective of The Small Exhibitions," including selections from W. Hugh Peal's collection on Charles Lamb, Gordon Ray's French 19th Century Lithographs, Arthur Holden's Literature on Communities, Michael Papantonio's American Bindings, Stuart Schimmel's Forgeries, H. Bradley Martin's French Literature, Jack Samuels' Triple Deckers, Donald Hyde's Oscar Wilde, Norman Strouse's Cobden Sanderson and my Kelmscott Press Books.

The fall season opened with Robert Dechert's outstanding early French discoveries in America. Many unusual, distinctive items were shown, bringing to life early American history in a unique way. A great deal of interest was shown in this particular exhibition.

For a further change of pace, now came Mr. Esmerian's gorgeous "Sixteenth Century Royal Bindings." Esthetically it was an unusually delightful group of bindings, in remarkably good condition and such great rarities too! So many will recall this particular display very warmly.

SMALL EXHIBITIONS COMMITTEE

And for Christmas-time, we installed a model exhibition for certain kinds of collectors. Classics of English 18th, 19th, and 20th Century literature as well as 19th and 20th Century American literature from Mr. Stockhausen's notable, vast library. Each book shown was in amazingly perfect condition—something to aspire to. It was a varied, lively show.

And, finally, comes a really startling showing—so much has Mr. Herbert Schimmel collected about Henri Toulouse Lautrec. The room is presently filled with glory, giving a lively rounded picture of this great artist. I urge each of you to see it if you have not already—it is one of our greatest shows.

Once again, I wish to thank my colleagues on the Committee and our Librarian, Mr. Gabriel Austin, and Lovett and his men for all they've done to make a success of this Committee's work.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE LIBRARY COMMITTEE

MR. PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN:

The Library Committee presents herewith the Librarian's report as the first part of the report of the Committee:

Mr. Herbert T. F. Cahoon Chairman of the Library Committee

SIR:

President Ray, in his Christmas letter to the members, mentioned the most active section of the Library, the catalogues. No other reading is at once so pleasurable and frustrating to the collector: pleasure in the description of a fine copy, a beautiful binding, an early issue, a presentation copy; frustration in not being able to own all.

In a large collection of catalogues, pleasure and frustration are magnified; not only all those books, but all those copies of the books. Our collection of catalogues of private libraries, of booksellers and auction sales, has about tripled in the last four years. From one section of the library gallery, and a tall narrow closet, it has now grown to fill out the entire library gallery, the new fourth floor, the office gallery and half of the office. Proportionate to the increase in size is an increase in the number of significant catalogues. In specific areas we do not outnumber nor even approach such holdings as the American catalogues at The American Antiquarian Society, or the English catalogues in The British Museum, or the French in the Bibliothèque Nationale. But as a whole I believe the collection ranks with any of these, and in making it a special concern of our library, we are able to make more effective use of the catalogues. As the collection grows it has been our constant concern to make it comprehensive and accessible. In so doing we are creating a tool of bibliographic research which will, I think, give us a place in this specialized field among the important libraries of the country.

Activity in one section of the library, if only for reasons of space, causes activity in other areas. We have been able to dispose of runs of some periodicals, particularly technical library journals, and of outdated bibliographies, and similar material. Besides providing much needed space, these discarded books realized some $4000 a year ago, and $11,000 in the year just ended. This money was put into a fund for the purchase of books and catalogues. If it be considered a healthy sign that a library does not have spare cash lying about when it should be buying books, then we are very healthy indeed, and more than healthy, as the book fund now exists only in the negative. The process of weeding and spacecreating continues and will, hopefully, be also still cash-producing for a time.

The business of selective discarding demands careful consideration of the material to be kept, and of the areas of strength in the library which can be usefully built upon. We have some fine books in the Bruce collection of incunabula and early printed books. It was given to the Grolier in 1894, an age which had few collections and almost no public collections in these fields. We have also some poor incunabula and early printed books accepted for the library because they had no other home. We have fine specimens of binding and some curious specimens. We have perhaps too many silver bindings.

Our collection of reference books in the field of prints has led a varied life and reflects, in its desuetude, the growth and accessibility of the libraries of the Print Rooms at the Metropolitan Museum and The New York Public Library, collections formed in great part and continued by Grolier members.

Our interest in bibliography as such has narrowed as the field has expanded, and the collection now aims to serve the more severe "up-to-date" bibliographic study of issues and editions, and as reference material for our exhibitions.

The growth of interest among larger libraries in printing and private presses has long since outstripped the Grolier's collections or ability to keep up. It has been suggested that we try to keep abreast of the field by judicious selection and some form of exhibition of the most current fine printing. This suggestion grew from our exhibition a year ago of American Illustrated Books 1945–1965, which for a 20 year period, found only 39 books of sufficient quality. The number of finely printed books would, of course, be greater. But so active has the field become that only the cognoscenti are aware of most of it.

There are smaller areas of the library which are also being dusted off and shaken up. One which we hope to expand is that of books by members, a category which allows us to have some books we want, but bibliographically can't justify. Now on those rainy days when even catalogues lose their appeal, one can, thanks to the collecting or editorial activities of members, dip into books on German glass, or Pre-Columbian art or Islamic carpets, or read a story by Henry James, or some letters of Shaw or Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, or Horace Walpole. These books of members are our "sentimental library" and are kept in the Council Room. One of these, the three volumes of the Hawthorne Centennial Edition is much more and has been lately urged as required reading for collectors and librarians, representing as it does "The demands that present-day advanced textual and bibliographical scholarship makes on rare-book collecting."

Statistically, we have lost track of the number of single items which have been added to the collection, so great has it been recently. Our backlog of cataloguing is in a healthily current condition, thanks mainly to the efforts of Dr. Elizabeth N. Hajós, who has been lending a hand with it.

To name the donors of books to the library would be a repetition of a great part of the membership list. The most important acknowledgement is to the continued and active interest of the members.

Respectfully submitted,

GABRIEL AUSTIN

Librarian

Since the Librarian's Report is comprehensive and sums up very well the state of the Club Library at this time, my own remarks will be brief and factual. The volumes of the Bowyer Ledgers from the Club's Library are on loan to the Bodleian Library, Oxford, for the use of a leading scholar in this field; there they can be used with important related manuscripts, also be filmed and to some extent repaired. A Sub-Committee under the Chairmanship of Mr. Richard E. Priest is now at work surveying various areas of the Library with recommendations on books which may be expendable. The work of this Sub-Committee will probably continue for several months. Our Fellow Member, Mr. Paul A. Bennett, who died on December 18, had been working on our Frederic Warde project for somewhat over two years, and his notes will be retained here for use in what I hope will be a book similar to those in Paul's great series of Typophile Chap Books.

This year is memorable for the fine catalogues that we acquired from Major Abbey's sale and from many other sources. It has been a year in which to be grateful for the many gifts in money, in kind, and in services from members of the Club.

Respectfully submitted,

DONALD FRIZELL HYDE

IN MEMORIAM

Donald F. Hyde was elected a member of the Grolier Club in 1943. At that time he was in the Navy, and he and his wife, Mary, were just entering enthusiastically upon those adventures in book and manuscript collecting which, within twenty-five years, were to bring their library to the top rank among private collections in the United States. No doubt, if the Club admitted women to membership, Mrs. Hyde would have been elected simultaneously.

In 1948, he began his service on the Club's Council, which was interrupted only by his death from cancer on February 5, 1966, at the early age of 56. From 1950 to 1957 he held the office of Secretary, and from 1957 to 1961 he was Vice-President. During our 75th Anniversary year, 1959, he was active in organizing the Club's first trip abroad, the pilgrimage to England and France.

In 1961 he was elected President, His four years in office, ending in 1965, were among the liveliest in the Club's history. Under his enthusiastic leadership, the clubhouse was reconstructed to provide more space for the library, air-conditioning and improved lighting were installed, the collections were cleaned, repaired, and re-arranged, and the staff operations were brought to a new peak of efficiency. The resources of the Club library were greatly strengthened, and its use increased with improved accessibility. The grandest European trip of all, the "Iter Italicum," organized by the Hydes with impeccable judgment and precision, took place in the spring of 1962; the following year the membership visited libraries and private collections in the midwestern United States; and in 1964, the Club entertained former hosts from this country and abroad at a Gala Book Week in and around our rehabilitated headquarters.

When Mr. Hyde left the presidency, the Club was in a strong financial position, and the waiting lists of candidates for election were longer than at any time in thirty-five years.

The list of his other activities in the book world included the presidency of the Bibliographical Society of America, trusteeships at The New York Public Library, the Pierpont Morgan Library and the Huntington Library, official connections with the Harvard, Yale and Princeton libraries, membership in the Roxburghe Club and the Club of Odd Volumes, the American vice-presidency of the International Association of Bibliophiles, offices in several societies publishing scholarly journals, and finally his never flagging pursuit of acquisitions for the Hyde collection at Four Oaks Farm, which ranges from the Elizabethans, the age of Dr. Johnson, and Oscar Wilde, to mediaeval Japanese manuscripts. It was almost incredible that concurrently he maintained an exceedingly active law practice, managed a working farm, and participated in a variety of business enterprises, including the London publishing house of Constable and Co.

In his Presidential Report at the Annual Meeting in 1963, Mr. Hyde expressed what he thought should be the Club's guiding philosophy, as it was his own. "We will not tolerate mediocrity. We agree with Goethe that 'what subjugates us all is the commonplace."

His knowledge of books, his geniality as a host, his concern for helping young people to make the best of their abilities, and his loyalty in friendship, are unforgettable attributes of a colleague whose loss is deeply mourned.

By order of the Council February 10, 1966
